FACULTY, ADMINISTRATION, PERSONNEL

To the Class of 1964:

Many years from now you will look back upon your senior year at Coe. I believe history will place in clear perspective three major events of our life together this year as follows: the signing of the test ban treaty as a first tenuous step toward peace, the progress of civil rights through the legislative halls and through the conscience of America, and the death of John Fitzgerald Kennedy. These events made headline news in this our last year together on the campus. How do they seem to you now as you look back on them across the intervening years?

This year at Coe will long be remembered as "the year of the Ford Foundation Grant" in the amount of $1,400,000. Some day you will remember my saying in Chapel that this is the largest single gift ever to come to Coe and that it gives initial impetus to the raising of the $5,000,000 Challenge Fund for the College. Does that still seem like a tremendous sum, or through the years have you become accustomed to such figures in the financing of the college?

Last evening the design development of the Gage Memorial Union was reviewed by the Board of Trustees. As you read this in other years you will have come and gone through the building many times, though now as I write it is simply some thin lines on the architect's drawing board.

The Union, a new Science Building, additional dormitories, little theatre, swimming pool, renovation of old science hall and the library . . . all these are to go forward within your first few years away from Coe. You will follow these developments with interest, and some day I will see you here, and together we will look back on the far away and distant time of 1963-64.

Edmund Burke once remarked, "He who will not look backward with reverence, will not look forward with hope." Here on this old campus you will ever have a spiritual home. Hail and farewell.

STUDENT COUNCIL

As the governing body of the Coe students, the Student Council is composed of delegates from different campus groups. Included in its many duties and activities are the sponsoring of Homecoming festivities and the annual Coe-Cornell dance. Each year, the Student Council also delegates funds to organizations such as WAA, AWS, YWCA, Acorn, Caravan, Cosmos, and KCOE radio station. At the fund-raising Campus Chest auction, Dick Warren, Student Council President, President McCabe, and Warren Reinecke sold such items as: a month's supply of cookies, a pledge class as slaves for a day, a party on the Kapa Ann, and dinners at different faculty homes.

As one of its major projects this year, the Student Council was successful in establishing a new constitution that will become effective in October, 1964. Stressing more equal representation of all sections of the student body, the Council is confident that the new constitution will provide not only more representatives, but more action by the group.

The TUB Committee, organized to handle all social functions of the student body, was revamped and improved this year. Under the direction of Warren Reinecke, Director of Student Activities, the committee sponsored such musicians as Al Hirt, the Village Stompers and Guy Carawan. A duplicate bridge tournament that met with great success was organized by the committee, will become an annual event on the social calendar and will be under the supervision of the TUB Committee. Another activity of the committee was the sponsoring of a series of Sunday night informal dances held in the TUB.

Next year's plans include three big-name entertainers, informal dances and many new activities.

The sixty member Coe College band, under the direction of Norman Stafford, gave two concerts during the year and took a four-day tour which culminated at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago.

COE COLLEGE CONCERT BAND

COE COLLEGE CONCERT CHOIR

The Coe College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Gordon Ohlsson, presented the "Creation," an oratorio by Hyden, during Parent's weekend. Other activities during the year included a Christmas Concert and a spring tour that included stops in Aurora, Ill., Cleveland Heights, Ohio, Camp Hill, Penn., Pittsburgh, Penn., Philadelphia, Penn., and Washington, D. C. Their final appearance was at the Coe Baccalaureate.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

Involvement in student activities was an important aspect of the year for the Alpha Gamma Deltas. Three of our girls attended Student Encampment, and Alison Shepherd left the wing to serve as a freshman counselor at Salter House.

Homecoming found us working side by side with the Chi Omegas decorating our sorority rooms with Snoopy and Linus proclaiming "Happiness is to Win." Alison Shepherd was our candidate for Homecoming Queen.

The Gams plotted and schemed and then announced a new Greek Week activity — a hairy leg contest. A hayride for the girls and their dates ended an eventful fall term.

After formal rush, we welcomed nine new pledges into Alpha Gamma Delta. At our pledge dance, "Rags to Riches," our eleven pledges were "formally introduced" to society. With elections for campus organizations, Ann Thomas became president of the YWCA and Joy Arima was chosen president of AWS.

When we returned from spring break, the decision was made to form a local sorority under the name of Delta Chi Beta. Recognition of our new group was received from both the college administration and Panhellenic Council. Delta Chi Beta will function in the future under the rules maintained by the Panhellenic Council.

Flunk Day activities and Spring Formal helped round off a wonderfully successful year for the Delta Chi's.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Experience, fun and achievement highlighted the 1963-64 school year for the Alpha Gamma chapter of Alpha Xi Delta.

It was an ambitious group of Xi's that congregated for our retreat in the fall, and though we were minus Marlys Nielson and Susan Waddell who were spending the term studying in Washington, D. C., high spirits reigned. Greek Week brought the annual Alpha Xi Delta Greek Sing at which Dave Kiesau was chosen our Ideal Fraternity Man. Homecoming was a busy time for the Xi's, with Chere Eckerlebe working as co-chairman of the Homecoming Committee, and Jane Grube as our queen candidate. At the annual TKE Pajama Dance, Fran Reuse reigned as Sleepy-Time Gal.

Winter term found us joined by eleven new pledges and with them came skips, teas, and the pledge dance. We all missed Sara Schomp who was studying in Mexico City. Officers were elected and Marlys Nielson became our new president.

With spring came more excitement, topped by the sale of a party at the Campus Chest Auction. Linda Heintz represented Coe as the candidate for Drake Relays Queen. The climax of a wonderful year was the Spring Formal, at which Jack Reid was named Alpha Xi Delta Dream Man. The entire chapter looks back with pride on a very rewarding year.

CHI OMEGA

Chi Omegas started the school year early with eight girls at Student Encampment. A week later, the rest of the chapter arrived for the annual House Party held at Palisades Park. The Chi O's spent two days eating, tramping through the woods, catching up on the summer news and planning for the coming year. The following week, the sorority rooms suddenly became spotless, inside and out, after a thorough house cleaning.

Thus, everything was spic and span when Miss Elizabeth Dyer, national president of Chi Omega, visited Coe for Omicron Alpha's fiftieth anniversary celebration. Members of the faculty and administration, alumni, representatives from other Greek groups on campus, and Chi Omegas in the area were guests at a reception honoring Miss Dyer. Included in the over two hundred guests that attended were two charter members and charter pledges of Omicron Alpha. That evening, the banquet at the Roosevelt Hotel was highlighted by an address given by Miss Dyer and a skit given by the active members depicting fifty years of Chi Omega at Coe. In commemoration of its fiftieth anniversary, the chapter presented a gift of $450 to the college for the new student union.

Greek Week found the Chi O's presenting "The Wells Fargo Wagon" for Greek sing. Jill Peterson and Judy

Armstrong, dressed in knee socks and middie blouses lisped to the audience about "thumpin' thpecial" the Wells Fargo Wagon was bringing to Coe. Everyone soon learned that "thumpin' thpecial" was a limbo stick for the Chi O Limbo Stick Contest. George Esslinger was the winner of both the contest and the limbo stick when he was named "Lowest Man on Campus."

After a successful weekend of rush parties, the chapter welcomed the largest pledge class on campus. Right away, the pledges began work on plans for the pledge dance, "Seeing Double." Costumes ranged from measles cases to Scottish highlanders. Chi Omega again came out on top in the scholastic field to win the Panhellenic Scholarship Tray for the third consecutive year.

Spring Term saw everyone involved in picnics and parties and activation. On April 11, twenty-two girls rode a jerky school bus to Iowa City for Eleusian, Chi Omega State Day. Chi O's from all the chapters in Iowa gathered for a banquet and later visited the Chi Omega house at SUI. Spring drew to a close, and formal time arrived. The chapter presented the annual "Shades of Evening" at Elmcrest Country Club. Thus ended a happy and successful year for Omicron Alpha of Coe College.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Houseparty initiated an exciting and fun-filled year for the Deltas. Spreads, Parent's Day teas, Homecoming festivities and many other Greek sponsored social events kept us all busy. Greek Week at Coe found us sponsoring a tandem bicycle race which the Phi Taus won for the second consecutive year.

This year our four peppy cheerleaders, Polly Pollitz, Lynn Sager, Cindy Erickson and Jan Kamps, helped lead the Kohawks to many victories. For the sixth year in a row the Tri Delts won Siglimpics. Sue Strauss was chosen to reign over Siglimpics Ball and Judy Huck was honored as Miss Flame Queen of Cedar Rapids. Ann Blackman was South Sea Island Queen and Mary Fernald was the 1964 "Ghoul Friend" at the Phi Tau "Grave Affair."

With Valentine's Day came the Heart Throb Hop and Ron "Chubs" Evans was named the Tri Delt "Heart Throb." Proceeds from the dance were donated to the heart fund. Again, the Lambda Chi's and the Tri Delta's held a Christmas party for underprivileged children. Each year, Delta Delta Delta awards a scholarship to a Coe woman student regardless of her social affiliation.

With second and third terms came rush, pledging and activation. This year we pledged eleven girls and presented them with their pledge dance, "I Wish I Were . . ." As can well be seen, Delta Delta Delta has had a busy, prosperous and fun year.

KAPPA DELTA

The Kappa Deltas' year, filled with a wealth of activity, was highlighted with an especially meaningful service project. Aided by the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, we gave monthly parties at the Linn County Center for the Mentally Retarded. We also contributed to our national philanthropy, the support of a ward in the hospital for crippled children in Richmond, Virginia.

To begin the year, we gathered at Palisades Park for Houseparty, a time of renewing old friendships and planning for the year ahead. Homecoming weekend found the KD's decorating the sorority rooms with the Tri Delta's and Alpha Xi's. Marie Horn was our candidate for Homecoming Queen. During Greek Week, the Kappa Deltas sung their way to their fourth consecutive Spring Sing trophy. Our traditional Pie Eating Contest was again won by the Phi Tau's. During fall term Sally Gibson was chosen to appear on the national Tau Kappa Epsilon calendar.

What better way to begin winter term than with the pledging of eleven girls during formal rush! Our pledge dance, "Once Upon a Haystack," soon followed. We all pitched in to help with the redecoration of our sorority rooms in Early American style. Exhausted, but excited, we proudly held an open house to show the campus our finished product. We found ourselves involved in various campus activities including Catalinas, plays, and the TUB committee. Kappa Deltas served as presidents of House Council, Associated Women Students, YWCA, Sociology Club and the Panhellenic Council.

Spring Term brought more activities which began with White Rose Week and the initiation of our pledges. Exchanges were held with the Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Nu fraternities, and we served "Breakfast in Bed" to the TKE's as part of our contribution to the summer service project. Chip Moore was named our 1964 Sweetheart at our annual White Rose Formal, a big success and the perfect end of a wonderful year.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Guided by the motto, "friendship, leadership and service," the service fraternity Alpha Phi Omega strived to aid both Coe and the Cedar Rapids community throughout the year. From within the fraternity and through service projects and social activities, the group worked to bring friendship and understanding to all aspects of the campus. Delta Lambda, the Coe chapter, was host to the Iowa sectional convention and members from five other chapters of Alpha Phi Omega.

The responsibilities of leadership were assumed by the members in offices in Student Council, the TUB Committee, social fraternities, and within Alpha Phi Omega. John Wilson served as president of the sophomore class.

With the aim of aiding both school and community, the group participated in many outstanding service projects. During freshman orientation week, the A Phi O's cheerfully helped move freshman women into the dorm, sponsored a mixer, aided at registration and conducted campus tours for parents. Later in the term, members conducted an opinion poll concerning student government, supplied convocation workers, and built the Homecoming bonfire. Alpha Phi Omega sponsored both the Faculty-Intramural basketball game and the Ugly Man Contest, which netted $87 for the summer service project. In cooperation with the Kappa Delta sorority, the A Phi O's gave a party each month at the Linn County Center for the Mentally Retarded. In addition, our pledge class painted several rooms in the Center.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI

With the coming of spring and the ending of classes, Alpha Sigma Phi wound up another eventful year of brotherhood. Throughout the year, the fraternity's activities have been directed toward the tri-point program of scholarship, leadership, and social living.

During the winter term, we were proud to note that our pledge class received the highest fraternity pledge grade average on campus. We have also been well represented this year with members on the Dean's List and with new names on the "Howard Helsher Memorial for Outstanding Scholarship."

Perhaps the most notable leadership positions held by Alpha Sigs this year were those in A.F.R.O.T.C. Important offices held were those of Squadron Commander, Group Information Officer, Group Administrative Officer, Group Operations Officer, and Cadet Commander for Senior Review.

Socially, Alpha Sigma Phi has been in fine form throughout the entire year. Our social calendar began this fall with the annual day of Siglympics events and culminated with post flunk day activities in the spring. Between these events came a very memorable pledge dance, "Roman Times," and the Black and White Formal. Brothers from Phi chapter at Iowa State University have attended many of our functions this year, and we in turn were their guests at the ISU Greek Week. Thus we have strengthened the bonds between our chapters.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

For the men of Zeta Alpha chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha, the year has been filled with constructive and worthwhile accomplishments highlighted with memorable social events.

Fall term opened with the traditional South Sea Island Dance and the annual orphans' party given with the Tri Delts. The Lambda Chi's proudly fought their way to the intramural championship in football.

We began the winter term with formal rush and pledged our quota of outstanding freshmen. The pledges joined the actives in another Lambda Chi tradition, the "Wing Ding." The Lambda Chi's were again successful in intramural athletics when our sharp-shooting basketball team, led in scoring by J. Means, held an undefeated season.

Climaxing the spring term was the Spring Formal where Miss Laura Wight was crowned Crescent Girl and Brother Tim Poell was chosen the outstanding senior of Lambda Chi Alpha. Next year, Ron Frederick will serve as vice president of the Interfraternity Council and Bill Schalk will be the vice president of the Clan of C. Ron Frederick is also the 1964-65 president of the Lambda Chi's.

The Brotherhood of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity has proven its vitality by an outstanding year and stands in expectation of continued accomplishment in the years to come.

PHI KAPPA TAU

The members of Iota chapter of Phi Kappa Tau continued this year to improve their scholastic standing on campus while not neglecting their usual assortment of social events.

During Greek Week, the Phi Tau's came out on top both in the Kappa Delta Pie Eating Contest and the Tri Delt Tandem Bicycle Race. The "Grave Affair," an annual all-school dance sponsored by the Phi Tau's, again featured Singing Sam and Gwen Witherspoon. A successful pledge dance, "Adolescent Antics," was presented by the pledge class.

A number of brothers should be given individual recognition for their contributions to campus life. Dick Warren served as president of the Student Council, and Steve Bangs acted as president of the senior class and ROTC Cadet Commander. Dick DeWald was the captain of the football team, Jim Beckman was the captain of the basketball team, and Tony McCoy served as captain of the Coe track team. Terry Erickson worked as sports editor of the Cosmos and Bob Brizzolara was the business manager.

After spring elections, Geoff McKee was elected vice president of the Student Council and Terry Erickson became president of the Interfraternity Council. At the annual Red Carnation Ball, Prissy Abbott was named Phi Kappa Tau Sweetheart, Steve Bangs was chosen Most Valuable Intramural Man and Bill Tyler was named Most Valuable Fraternity Man.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu continued to maintain its high level of scholastic achievement this year. Beta Epsilon placed first academically among the fraternities during the fall and winter terms to retire another scholarship trophy. The chapter also ranked high among the Sigma Nu chapters across the nation.

In addition to a co-captain of the basketball team, brothers were selected as Sigma Nu All-Americans in football, placed on all-conference teams in both football and basketball, and were chosen as Most Valuable Players in both football and basketball.

As leaders in other areas of campus life, brothers served as the president of the junior class and Interfraternity Council and vice-president of the Student Council. One of the brothers was elected chairman of Student Encampment.

The social highlights of the year were the highly successful pledge dance, "Beach Party," and the annual White Rose Formal held at the Town House. It was a profitable and rewarding year — scholastically, athletically, and socially — for the men of Sigma Nu.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Once again the Zeta chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon ended its year successfully after participating in a wide variety of campus activities. This year the top events on the TKE calendar were Homecoming festivities, the all-school TKE Pajama Dance, and the Red Carnation Spring Formal.

In campus activities the TKE's were very active. Bob Brecht was selected as a member of the all-conference football team, despite an injury that kept him out of action for the last half of the season. Chuck Zimmerman was the president of the Business Club, and Doug Miller is the newly elected vice-president of the same club. Members of TKE have also held a number of offices in A.F.R.O.T.C. John McClure was the Group Commander and received the Presidential Scholarship, as well as being named Outstanding Senior. Bob Bruckner was named Outstanding Junior in the program.

We are also proud of Dave Kiesau, the Alpha Xi Delta Ideal Fraternity Man, John McClure, the Delta Delta Delta Dream Man, and Chip Moore, the 1964 Kappa Delta Sweetheart. Looking forward to next year, the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon hope for a very prosperous and successful year.

COE COLLEGE CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

The Coe College Christian Council, an outgrowth of the Religion in Life Week Committee, began this year with many new programs. The council sponsored a midwinter retreat and monthly Sunday evening worship services.

In place of Religion in Life Week, a religious emphasis weekend was organized each term, with special speakers featured at each. Sharm Scheuerman, head basketball coach at the State University of Iowa, spoke on the "Fellowship of Christian Athletes" during fall term. Featured during winter term was the Rev. Kenneth S. Watterman, a Kansas City pastor, whose topic was "The Inter-City and the Church." Professor Robert Christin, a Notre Dame University professor, discussed the Second Vatican Council.

JUDGE OF 1964 ACORN BEAUTY

Traditionally a personality of the entertainment profession is selected by the editors of the yearbook to select the ACORN Beauty. This year Andy Williams of television and record fame was asked to judge this contest.

Each sorority and the independent women select a girl to represent their respective group. The pictures are taken and then sent to the selected judge for his decision. This year Andy Williams has chosen Miss Mary Alice Shierk of Alpha Xi Delta as the reigning ACORN Beauty. Miss Judy Brockway of Kappa Delta and Miss Sue Moss of Chi Omega were chosen as First and Second Attendants respectively.

After a solid 22-6 victory over Carleton in the opening game of the season, the Coe Football team appeared, as predicted, headed for a good season. An error in these predictions was soon obvious as the Kohawks failed in the next two games. St. Olaf jousted Coe to a heartbreaking loss, followed by another defeat by Ripon's Redmen. The Kohawks stoutly persisted and subdued Knox with a 54-0 victory. Fate, however, struck the following weekend as Cornell subjected Coe to a 14-12 defeat. But there would be no compromise on Homecoming as Coe rose to a great victory of 52-0 over Grinnell. A 41-6 victory over Monmouth was shadowed by the last game as the Kohawks ended the season with a 14-13 loss to Lawrence.

CROSS-COUNTRY

This is the first fall in many years that Coe has had a complete Cross-Country team. The highlight of the season came on Parent's Day, when the Victory Bell rang to celebrate the first Coe victory in twelve years. Bill Schalk's fine performance was the major factor in the Coe victory over Knox. This year's team consisted of a strong nucleus of sophomores who will be returning next year. Added to next year's roster will be sophomore transfer Bill VanDyke and John Gawthrop. The 1964 season should prove interesting with a stronger team than in past years.

WRESTLING

Freshman Coach Schaffer and Coach Fred Moyer

The Coe wrestling team, because of the lack of men in two weight classes, was unable to obtain an impressive dual meet record. Four Coe wrestlers did distinguish themselves in conference action, however. Bill McReynolds (130), Dick Imhof (137), and Bob Jubenville (167) all snatched fourth-place finishes in their respective weight classes. Don MacKay wrestled at 191-pounds instead of heavy-weight this year and won third place in the conference. Coe ended the season with a seventh-place position in the league, only 13 points from a first division finish.

The Kohawk basketball season opened with an 83-74 defeat to Beloit. Wally Swan then led the team at Monmouth to a 76-74 victory, but the Kohawks lost the following two games. They challenged Lawrence and scored a 97-72 win. St. Ambrose saw the Kohawks then triumph 105-87 as they scored the second-highest point-getting game in Coe's history. The following four games were lost, but the Kohawks then came back to defeat Lawrence 99-94. Both Grinnell and Carleton were defeated by Coe in two of the last four games.

Wylan Witte and Skip Swan were the leaders of a productive scoring machine, both making All Conference second-team. Rounding out the starters were Jim Beckman, Mike Collis, and Larry Shryock. The Kohawks are looking forward to next year and a season showing more victories.

BASEBALL

Coach King

Despite terrible early season weather, Coe's baseball team scrambled to a 7-9 season record.

The Kohawks dropped their first three games in below freezing weather. From then on the Kohawks played good ball. A top notch infield of Gary Schlarbaum, first base; Warren Nicholas, second base; Rich Tosi, shortstop; Don Dempsey, third base; and Tom Brandon, catcher; supplied the majority of the hitting punch. All hit for high averages and stroked eight homers.

The individual star of the team was Skip Swan. He was Coe's leading pitcher with a 6-2 record, including five conference victories. He was also the leading hitter on the team.

The highlight of the season was a 20-18 victory over Cornell. Coe banged out 23 hits, including five home-runs. The season closed on a fitting note. The Coe-Cornell doubleheader was called because of rain.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT ENCAMPMENT

Student Encampment, the most organized bull session of the year, was held just prior to the start of classes at the traditional Camp Waubeek. The ninth annual Encampment had no specific theme but attempted to elicit practical suggestions on such topics as academic attitudes, core courses, and student government. The object of the Encampment was to bring together interested and influential students and members of the faculty and administration with the expectation of attaining a better informed campus, more prepared to attack specific problems.

Members of the Encampment Committee were: chairman, Ward Bowersox; secretary, Jan Maresh; Alison Shepherd; and Orm Aniline.

STUDENT ENCAMPMENT

South Sea Island candidates were:
Karen Krisac, Nancy Long, Judy Christiansen, Joy Arima, Ann Blackman, Carmen Whitecotton.

SOUTH SEA ISLAND DANCE

The annual South Sea Island Dance, though a bit late in the fall to wear only a yard of material, was a great success. The dance was kept on the swinging side by "The Fellas" from S.U.I. Ann Blackman was crowned "the girl we would most like to be stranded on an island with," and Laura Wight was given a Tiki-God for being the "best dressed" girl at the dance. Clyde Umaki, Nathan Kurashige, and Bill Barr played the guitar and sang while Janice Kamps, Polly Pollitz, Diana Tajiri, Nancy Norris, Mary Roos, and Laura Wight danced the hula for the intermission entertainment.

The candidates for Siglympics Queen were:
Alice Sterrett, Sue Strauss, Jane Helgeson, Chere Eckerlebe, Gayle Ewinger, Louise Miller.

SIGLYMPICS

Each Fall Term the Brothers of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity host Siglympics, a name synonymous with fun and entertainment. In the morning the women's organizations compete in various "fun and games" for the Siglympics trophy. The Tri-Delts won the trophy again for the sixth year in a row. The day ended with the Siglympics Ball, featuring the music of "The Legends." The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Siglympics Queen, Sue Strauss of Delta Delta Delta.

1964 "Sleepy Time Gal" candidates are:
Peggy Deems, Fran Reuse, Janice Kamps, Judy Frayher, Sue Benedict and Pat Glannon.

TKE PAJAMA DANCE

The Coe gym took on a new look as the TKE's brought in bunk beds and mattresses for their annual Pajama Dance. Students and chaperones alike danced in their pajamas during this, "The Greatest Nighty of the Year." Intermission entertainment featured the music of Dave Kiesau and "Night Train," an interpretive dance performed by Mary Alice Shierk. Fran Reuse reigned as "Sleepy Time Gal."

Candidates for the 1964 "Ghoul Friend" were:
Pat Moscato, Flo Eidsvaag, Virginia Knight, Mary Fernald, Sally Brozik and Sue Nordquist.

PHI KAPPA TAU GRAVE AFFAIR

Couples trembled as they crawled into a pitch black tunnel—the entrance to the annual Phi Kappa Tau Grave Affair. But, emerging, they found the TUB literally rocking to the music of Chicago's Singing Sam. Intermission featured the songs of Sue Thoma and the "Foul Tones." Mary Fernald was named the 1964 Ghoul Friend.

DELTA DELTA DELTA HEART THROB HOP

Valentine's Day for the Tri-Delts is more than a time for candy and flowers from that "certain someone." It is the date of the annual Heart Throb Hop, an all-school informal dance. Members of Delta Delta Delta sponsor the "Hop" as a service project to earn money for the Heart Fund, and choose their "Heart Throb" from the five candidates nominated by the fraternities. This year's lucky man was Ron "Chubs" Evans.

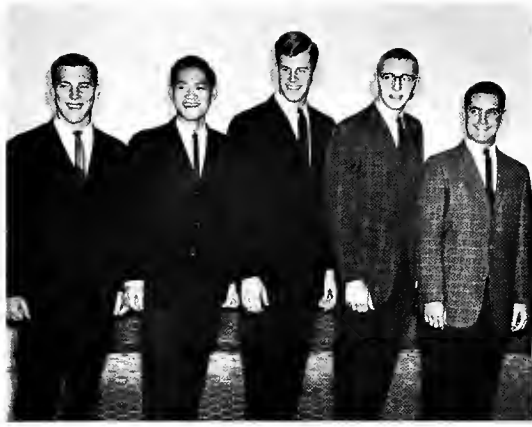

WASHINGTON TERM

The Washington Term Program enables selected upperclassmen to spend Fall Term in the nation's capital. The Program allows the students the opportunity to utilize their capacity to pursue academic objectives independently in the cultural and governmental resources of Washington, D.C. The students took two courses and also undertook an independent study in their respective major field.

Between interviewing senators and representatives, touring the various galleries, and visiting several embassies, the students also found time for picnics at Chesapeake Bay, a trip to the Army-Navy game, and occasional visits to hear folk singing groups.

The candidates for Ideal Fraternity Man were: Bill Johnson, Clyde Umaki, Dave Kiesau, Dave Runge, and Jack Reid.

GREEK WEEK

Each year the Coe College Panhellenic Council and the Inter-fraternity Council jointly sponsor "Greek Week." The purpose of this week is to give freshmen, non-affiliated students and the citizens of Cedar Rapids an opportunity to gain an insight into the value of the Greek system.

Greek sing, sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta, was won by the Kappa Delta Sorority and the Sigma Nu Fraternity. Dave Kiesau was chosen as the Ideal Fraternity Man. A Hairy Leg Contest and an Ugly Man Contest solved many campus disputes. The Greek Organizations also sponsored a Faculty tea. The week's events were highlighted by the Panhellenic and I.F.C. sponsorship of the Chad Mitchell Trio. On behalf of all the Greeks at Coe, $600 in proceeds from the concert were presented to the Gage Memorial Union Fund.

A Bicycle Race, sponsored by Delta Delta Delta, was won by Phi Kappa Tau. The Phi Taus also won the Pie Eating Contest sponsored by Kappa Delta.

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

The Fine Arts Festival, a hallmark in Coe's liberal education, again featured some of America's outstanding artists and performers. Truman Capote, twice the winner of the O. Henry memorial Short-Story Prize, presented the Coe audience with readings of his own works. An enthusiastic and well-deserved reception greeted his performance.

Robert Harris, distinguished English actor, starred in the National Road Company's production of "A Man for All Seasons." This play is the story of the famous Chancellor of England, Sir Thomas More, and his passionate conviction that although the world may take everything from him, he must remain faithful to his conscience, even to death. A near capacity audience was held spellbound by the very skillfully executed play.

Gary Graffman, well-known concert pianist, thrilled the Coe audience with both familiar and strange numbers. He has performed in Europe, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Hong Kong and India and has appeared with the Philadelphia Orchestra and New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Sara Mae Endich, another participant in the Fine Arts Festival, has been a soloist with the Cantata Singers and the American Chamber Orchestra. In addition to her performances at Carnegie Hall, she has recorded operetta for RCA Victor and has also recorded with the Robert Shaw Chorale.

Coe again witnessed the artistry of music with the performance of the Fine Arts Quartet, composed of Leonard Sorkin and Abram Loft, violinists; Gerald Stanick, violist; and George Sopkin, cellist. The current Artists-in-Residence at the University of Wisconsin have made successful appearances in both the United States and Europe.

COE VISITORS

Basil Rathbone, veteran of more than one hundred motion pictures and a star on stage, radio, and television, presented "In and Out of Character" in the Coe auditorium February 15, 1964. Included in the program were dramatic presentations from the works of Edgar Allen Poe, Robert Browning, Elizabeth Barrett, Dylan Thomas and others. The final half of the program was devoted to readings from the works of Shakespeare.

At a tea held in his honor, Walter Allen speaks to students in the English department.

"For God's sake, let us sit upon the ground and tell sad stories of the death of kings . . . for within the hollow crown that rounds the mortal temples of a king keeps death his court; there the antic sits, scoffing his state and grinning at his pomp . . ."

From this passage in Shakespeare's Richard II "The Hollow Crown" derived its title and theme. The play, featuring leading members of England's Royal Shakespeare Company of Stratford-on-Avon, was staged by John Barton, well-known English dramatist. The featured performers included Anne Firband, Michael Gough, John Nettleton and John Warner.

Carolyn McGinnis and Jonathan Fiske in "The Importance of Being Earnest"

THE COE PLAYERS

Coe's first major theatrical production, "The Firebugs" by Max Frisch, opened December 6, 1963 under the direction of Miss Jeanette Ringland. Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," a farcical comedy during the Victorian period of the 1890's was presented May 8 and 9.

SPEECH TOURNAMENTS

Lynn Engdahl, forensics coach, J. Means, Virginia Horak and John Casey proudly stand behind the Sweepstakes trophy and certificates earned by the Coe forensics team at the Bradley. Coe's victory in this tournament was an impressive one, as the Bradley meet is the largest college forensics meet in the nation. Coe participants placed in twenty-three events to earn the Sweepstakes trophy.

Members of Pi Kappa Delta compute results from the high school tournament held on the Coe campus.

SUMMER SERVICE PROJECT

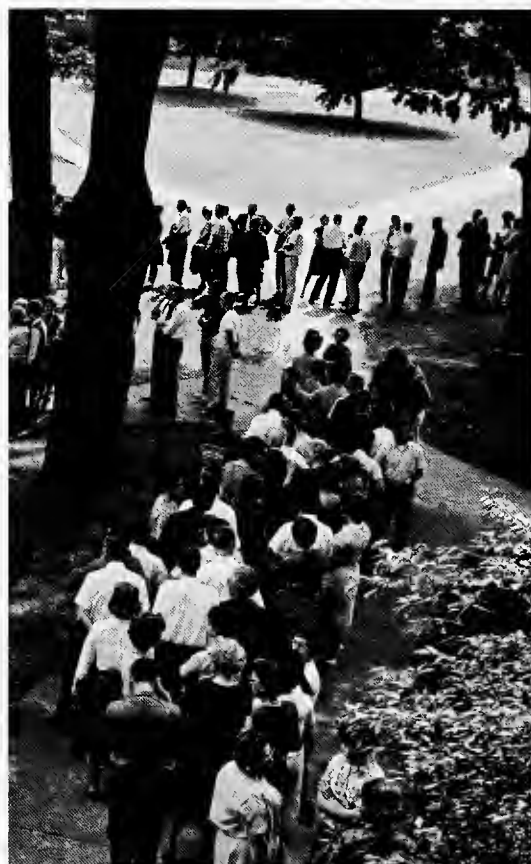

During second term the Coe College Christian Council committee chose nine students to participate in the summer service project. Those selected for the trip this year were Pete Grubmeyer, Carolyn Duncan, Flo Eidsvaag, Gay Nelson, Bobbi North, Vickie Ryan, Joe Woldemicael, Dean Myers, and Don Dempsey. The participants left Coe on June 8th. From here they traveled to the Navaho Indian Reservation in Cornfields, Arizona. After arriving at Cornfields they spent two weeks at the Presbyterian mission which housed a church, school, and hospital. Various programs were developed such as giving the Indians Bible instructions, recreational activities were provided, and the group released their extra energy by painting the mission.

Through rural living with the Indians, eating meals with them, and being invited into their homes, it was possible for Coe students to become accepted as friends by the Indians and thereby enabled them to promote better American relations.

SPRING PARENTS WEEKEND 1964

Students again welcomed their parents to the Coe campus for the annual spring parents weekend held May 15th and 16th. Following registration in Freshman Hall Lounge, the schedule of events for Saturday included a Parents Association meeting in the Daehler-Kitchen auditorium and a faculty panel discussion entitled "College and the Years After." An informal meeting of parents, faculty and students was held in Voorhees lounge, followed by a buffet luncheon in the cafeteria. That afternoon a reception was held in the home of the President, Dr. McCabe. A highlight of the evening was the performance of the Coe Players in "The Importance of Being Earnest."

The award to the Outstanding Senior Man and Woman is given each year by the Cedar Rapids Jr. Chamber of Commerce. This year's Awards were given to Sally Fels and Orm Aniline for their outstanding contributions to the Coe community. They are shown here receiving their plaques at the Annual Alumni Banquet.

The Class of 1964 offered a Senior Gift of $3500 to be used for the proposed Gage Memorial Union. Because of the Ford Foundation Grant given to Coe, this gift totals $5250, the largest Senior Gift ever presented to Coe College. The picture above shows members of the Gift Committee and a picture revealing the location of the long anticipated new Student Union.

IVY ORATION

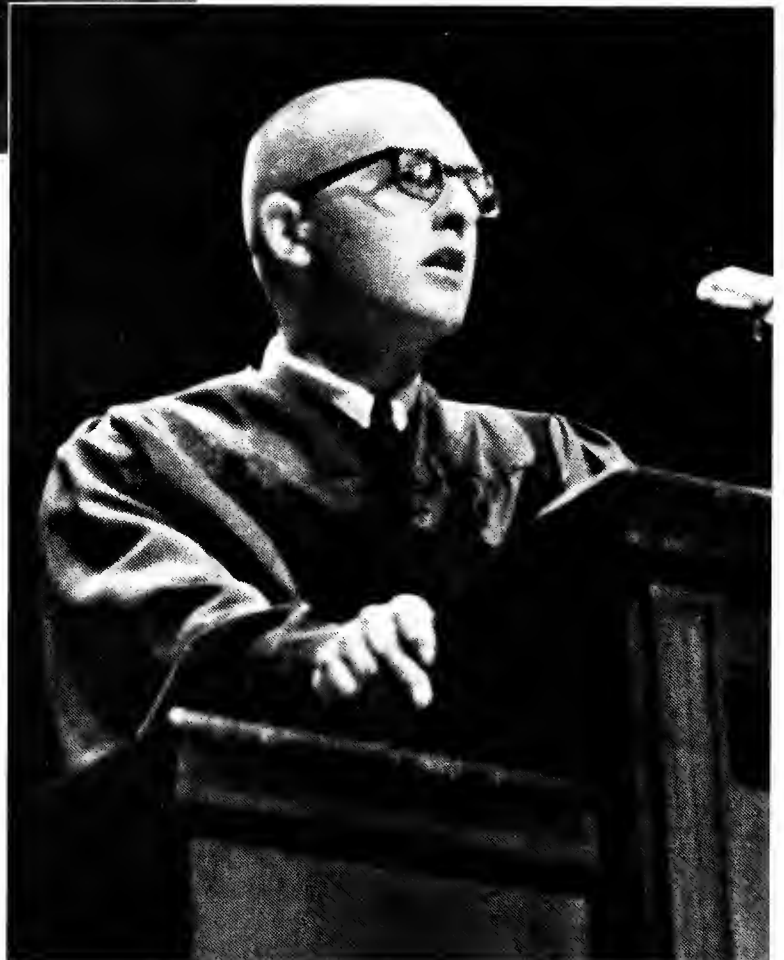

"... And what about the Senior, for after all, he is the product of Coe. Does he go through four years of college collecting appropriate courses and credits as premiums to redeem for a diploma? Or does he, somehow become actively involved in education? A Coe education is, in itself, not unique. It does not guarantee that the Coe graduate is better than the graduate of Cornell or Grinnell or any one of small liberal arts colleges throughout the United States. Coe has all of the facilities necessary for education, the student is the variable factor. The students are all quick to criticize the college—the administration, the faculty, the rules, but sometime during the four year period, the student should direct this criticism toward himself—his attitude and his performance."

JAN MARESH

OAK ORATION

"... To illustrate our imaginative Coe family, allow us to use the following analogy. Imagine if you will the Administrative personnel as our overseeing Father. That individual who controls our lives while residing within his castle walls. Being of higher intelligence his position is to counsel his children, slap their hands for minor indifferences and place the strap elsewhere for more serious offenses against his stately household. Then we view our Curriculum (being suggested, if you please, in terms of our alma mater) as our Mother, who for four years has served as our fostering guardian. Our mother, being perhaps a more influential figure, allows us the knowledge to be transferred from texts, lectures, and discussions to our personal thinking..."

DICK WARREN

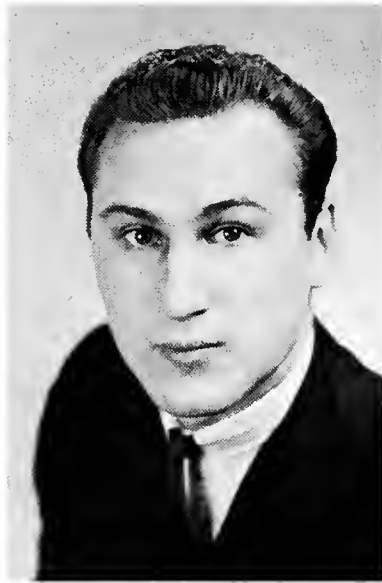

Richard Warren, retiring Student Council President, gives the oath of office to John Casey, the newly elected President of Student Council, and Geoffrey McKee, the newly elected Vice President, at the annual Senior Chapel.

The Honorable Roman L. Hruska, United States Senator from Nebraska, offered the 1964 Commencement Address. He stressed the importance of active participation and genuine interest in our government.

COMMENCEMENT

Conferring of honorary degrees upon four distinguished Americans was a highlight of the 1964 Commencement program. So honored were Robert F. Byrnes, an eminent scholar and teacher and a promoter of intercultural exchanges between the United States and the Soviet Union and Eastern European countries; Conger Metcalf, a Coe graduate who has achieved distinction as an artist and teacher; Harry A. Greene, also a graduate of Coe and an educational statesman, known internationally in the fields of measurement and research; and Roman L. Hruska, United States Senator from Nebraska and a distinguished political scientist.

The week preceding Commencement on June 7, 1964, commonly called "Senior Week," was filled with continuous activity for graduating seniors. The Annual Senior Banquet was held at the Town House and was highlighted by an after dinner speech given by Carl Kane. The Cedar Rapids Country Club offered the setting for a breakfast given in honor of the seniors by the President of the College. Baccalaureate initiated the day of graduation. President McCabe offered an address to the graduating class, "Lord, I believe; Help Thou my Unbelief." A luncheon followed for seniors, parents, and friends. Finally the Class of 1964 proceeded down First Avenue toward the Chapel where they would hear the Commencement Address given by Roman L. Hruska, Nebraska Senator. Four years of study and friendships were brought to an end at a reception following Commencement exercises. Graduates left the Coe campus in anticipation of a brightened future and a hopeful return to their Alma Mater.

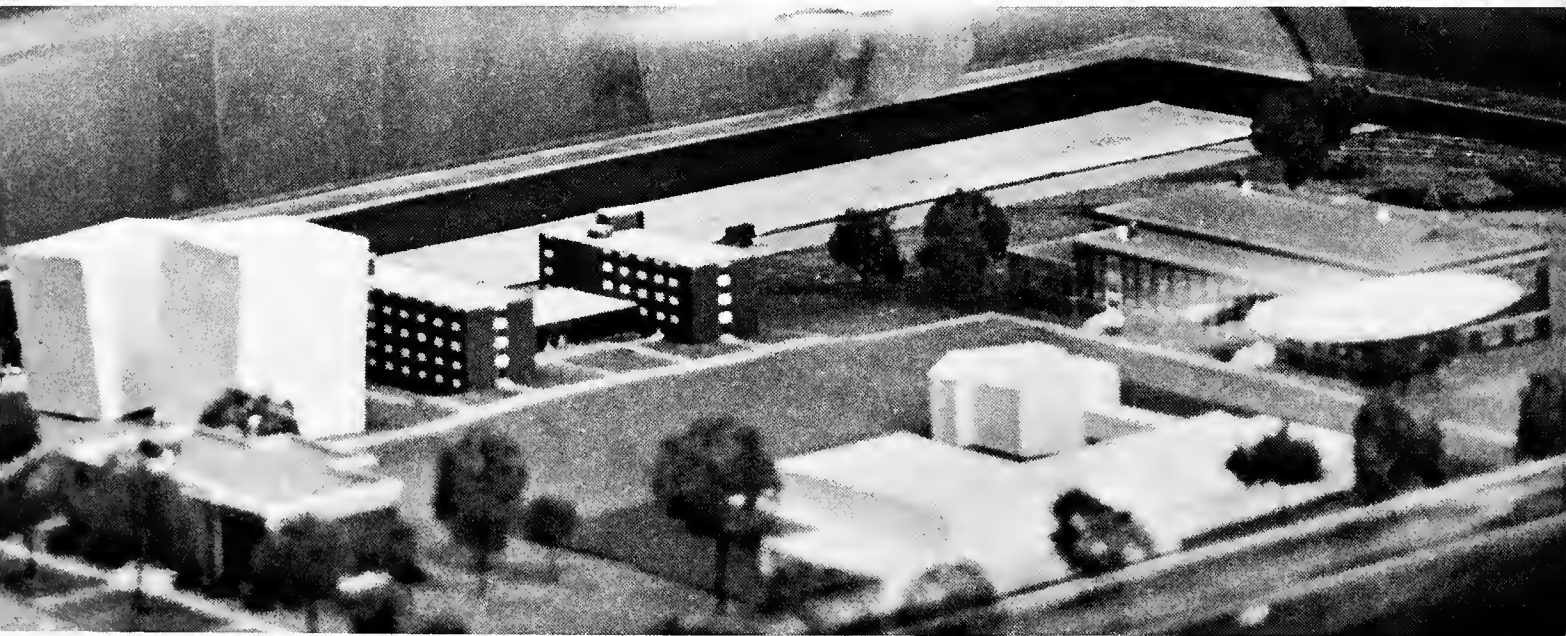

President McCabe offers congratulations to Linda Lee Nelson, Summa Cum Laude graduate.

Awarding of Air Force Commissions by Major Gerald R. Lane to sixteen men. Honored as distinguished AFROTC Cadets were Stephen J. Bangs, Gary W. Hahn and John R. McClure.
